

Treatment Policy

Our goal at Family Chiropractic & Wellness is to have each patient be out of pain in the shortest amount of time, with the least amount of cost to you. Many patients have issues that can be easily resolved in 1-2 treatments; however, patients with chronic or complicated cases or severe injuries are often slow to heal. Our treatment plans are set for each individual case, and those with long-term or severe cases often require more care than those with minor afflictions. Many patients with these types of cases are often disappointed that they are not “cured” after one treatment, and don’t allow time for the treatment to take effect. We are committed to working with you towards the goal of your good health, and we ask that patients allow time for treatments to work. Severe cases may be slow to respond, and our policy is to allow at least a month of care to determine if our type of care is best for you. The amount of care during this month can range from once a week or less, to up to three times a week. The amount of care needed is decided on a case-by-case basis. If after one month of care there is no improvement, then Dr. Craig may refer you to someone else or care may be discontinued.

I have read and understood the above, and agree to the terms as stated.
